

Public Defender Jeff Adachi endorses Bruce

An endorsement from a tireless advocate of the people is one that cannot be refused. Jeff Adachi, San Francisco's most loved Public Defender graced Bruce with his endorsement this weekend.

"I am so honored to receive this endorsement from one whom I have the highest respect not just for the job he is doing but of his personal commitment and service to youth and the public. Jeff's unwavering principles and values shine through every activity he initiates. Having personally been a child abuse prevention peace officer for four years, I know this work of a public defender can be many times thankless. I am glad to know you. Thank you, Jeff!"

[Bruce made this statement from his home Sunday nite.]
